

The data associated with the information in the delay chains on the TA module is held in a similiar delay chain on the TB module. This is also a ten clock delay chain.