

Inbetween the chips are other jumper fields named after the chip located to the left of the jumper field. The layout of the jumpers is the same as the Y jumper field but the jumper locations are given there alpha-numerical names in a different manner. The first letter in the three letter group is the field it is located in. The second letter or number is taken from the chip located to the left. The third letter is the name of the hole in the jumper field itself. The jumper field holes have letter designations O through Z.
