

Each regular gate-array chip is 24 grids wide, and 21 grids high. Each chip has 16 legs Known as the chip foot print. These holes are named A through N and holes 4 and 12 have no alpha-numerical designation and never have any foil paths drawn to them or through them.

